All Run Down

When your vitality is low, you are miserable all the time. Your nerves are weak and your appetite is poor. You have no ambition, and you are languid and depressed all the time.

What you need is a good strong tonic, as described by Mrs. H. Austin, of Wellington, New Zealand. She sends her photograph and says:

"I was so weak and tired all the time that I could not sleep at night. Or, if I did sleep, I was as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. I was all run down. I then tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking two bottles I found myself greatly improved, and soon I was completely restored to health. I think it is a great family medicine."

There are many imitation "Sarsaparillas." Be sure you get Ayer's.

You will improve faster by using Ayer's Pills with the Sarsaparilla. Take just enough each night to have one good, free movement of the bowels the day following.

SAN FRANCISCO - CAL.

A LOST OPPORTUNITY.

The Best Things on the Market Need Advertising.

"This," said the genie, "is a magic ring. Rub it and you can have anything you want."

"Do tell!" said the merchant, according to the New York Times. "I think I'll rub it and wish to have a lot of such rings. Then I'll start a jewelry store, and I'll get all sorts of prices for my goods because anybody who buys will be able to rub a ring and get his money back."

"All right," said the genie. "It's up to you."

And he vanished.

About six months later the genie called around again. The merchant had opened a magnificent store, which was filled with rings. But there were no customers in sight.

"How is business?" asked the genie.

"Dead slow," replied the merchant. "Nobody will buy—don't want to pay the prices. Very few people come in, and those who do look at me when I tell them about these rings, as suspiciously as if I were offering them something in the line of common or preferred stock. I can't do any business. In fact, I have to rub these rings to pay the rent. I don't understand it. The country is prosperous, but there seems to be a want of confidence."

"Do you advertise?" asked the genie.

"N—no, I didn't think it was necessary."

"Chump!" exclaimed the genie fiercely. "How do you expect to do business if you don't advertise? What is the use of giving a magic ring to a fool like you?"

And before the merchant had time to rub a ring and wish the genie corked up in a bottle, the genie had snatched a ring, rubbed it and wished for the rest. Of course he got them, and the upshot of it was that the merchant was obliged to call a meeting of his creditors and persuade them to accept eleven cents on the dollar.

Wanted a Perfect Man.

We cut the following correspondence from the pages of the Hardwareman, say the London Standard. The owner of the hardware shop is an American town, who wants an assistant, thus describes his requirements to a factor in another city:

"He must be steady and sober-minded. Must not drink, smoke or play cards of any kind. Must be absolutely truthful and be one who don't run after the girls or don't want to be out evenings. He must be one who would rather remain at home and read or study. I would like him to be one who would rather be with elderly people than young ones. He must be of a pleasant disposition; always courteous and polite to me and my customers. One who never becomes impatient or angry, and who never indulges in gossip or light talk. Who likes to go to church twice on Sunday and to Sunday school once. Who don't care for holidays and who never dances. Who is not engaged and don't correspond with young women. Who puts away a little money each week, and don't care to spend much on clothes."

The factor's answer was brief and to the point:

"I cannot find you a boy like that here. There is only one place where one can be found. That is in heaven."

Paraguay Cotton.

A good deal of attention has lately been given to cotton growing in Paraguay, and many inquiries have been made of our Consul at Asuncion about American cotton gins, presses and other things used in marketing the crop. The native cotton is difficult to pick, for the reason that the plants are tall, like trees, and their stalks of introducing the American plant.

Degrees For Servants.

The University of Chicago has made the announcement that it will establish a four-year course for the instruction of young men and women in the duties of practical servants. The scope of the instruction and the class of persons expected to take it is not yet known.

SCIENCE BREVITIES.

Scheme to Fell Trees by Electrical Device.

"It is reported in the German press," says Richard Guenther, United States consul-general at Frankfurt, in Consular Reports, September 10, "that successful experiments have been made in various forests of France in cutting trees by means of electricity. A platinum wire is heated to a white heat by an electric current and used like a saw. In this manner a tree is felled much more easily and quickly than in the old way; no saw dust is produced, and the slight carbonization caused by the hot wire acts as a preservative of the wood. The new method is said to require only one-eighth of the time consumed by the old sawing process."

"In the city of New York alone there are 150,000 people living today who would be dead if the mortality of fifty years ago still prevailed," says a writer in The Book-lover's Magazine. "Popular opinion has scarcely yet come to realize what medical science has been doing in late years. People sicken and die, think the laity, and the efforts of the physician are just as futile as before the recent discoveries about which so much is said. This idea is, however, erroneous. I will venture to say there is scarcely an adult living today who has not experienced or will not experience an actual prolongation of life due to discoveries of the last fifty years."

That the sense of smell is greatly impaired in old age appears from observations by a French physiologist, M. Vachide, who communicates his results to the Academy of Science, Paris. To quote a report in Cosmos (October 21): "Old people seem to have an atrophied sense of smell, and it is a remarkable fact that they do not seem to be conscious of this infirmity. Even when they can scarcely distinguish one familiar odor in ten, and when they take strong-smelling liquids for pure water, they assert that they enjoy the perfume of flowers. Their visual images make up for the absence of olfactory images, for they recognize the perfumes of the flowers when they are able to see them. The olfactory image thus has an independent intellectual existence, since it is capable of functional revival."

Antwerp, Dec. 21.—The Atlantic liner Finland, which went ashore at Nieuwsluis yesterday, is leaking badly. The passengers were taken from the vessel this morning without serious difficulty.

Adis, Abyssinia, Dec. 21.—King Menelik today received American Commissioner Skinner, who seeks to complete a commercial treaty with Abyssinia. The reception was an imposing affair and gratifying to the American representative as indicating a friendly spirit toward his mission.
